“ Barb was always very nice to me and my siblings. She had her demons like the rest of us but she never let hers get in the way of being a kind person to us. She always offered me food, candy or pop as a child when I came to visit. Even though she felt pain, she made sure to not show it to us when we were little. She would smile through it so to speak. I was not close with her but I did care for her and I'm glad she is no longer suffering from cancer or other illnesses. My prayers continue for her children, siblings and especially, my uncle. May you find peace knowing that she is with God.
