“ When Bill decided to ask Gina to be his bride, he was sneaky and very romantic. She shared that he had gotten her a ring for Christmas but not an engagement ring. Then after Christmas was over he proposed on New Years Eve. He told her, "I want to start the New Year out right." Gina shared this with us at work. That has been many years ago and I have never forgotten. God Bless you Gina and those precious memories of such a wonderful man.

Whenever I think of Griffin Pie Co, and Flowers of London, the Hopkins family always crosses my mind. Growing up and working for Hilbert and working with Bill are great memories, Gina, we are thinking of you.
