“ My memories that I have of him are far too many to write on this page, but we shared so many special ones. We lived next door to each other on two separate occasions. He would come by and we would sit on the porch laughing and talking over coffee. Sometimes he would ask me to bring out the ole guitar and make me sing for him. Sometimes we just talked of family that we both loved so much. Later when I got sick we compared notes and cheered each other up. We called each other when he moved. We never failed to tell the other how much we meant to each other. He was homesick for Heaven and he told me so about two months ago. He never failed to speak about the lord, and how much he loved him. To me he was a wonderful man in every way. I will truly miss him, but I am so happy to say that I know where he is. If he could hear me I would tell him once again. " I love you my sweet cousin and see you soon, be watching for me."
