So saddened to hear about Jack. He was such a nice person and I can remember he, David and I starting school together at the Sue Bennett Training School. Rest in peace dear friend.

“ Jack was my first and best friend from the time I was five years old until my early teens. He was a wizard with electricity and we spent hours upon hours with him creating and me watching amazed as he produced fantastic radios, gizmos, and other works I could not understand-but he did. Behind his shyness and retiring nature stood an unsung electrical genius who caught a little of the ether reserved for God and made it spark. Rest well my friend. I will catch up with you a little further on down the road. David E. Ison, DMD
