“ I just have been trying to think of more than just seeing him sitting around and laughing with my uncle Robert Ray Collins, but actually most of my friendship with Lonnie was through uncle Robert Ray and after that is when I was at one of my lowest points and he always would welcome me and sit and talk to me and make me feel better, letting me know that I still had a friend in him. I went to school with his son, Mark. Mark and I and a variety of friends mostly guys but they always let a chick friend tag along. Mark was is one of my best friends and life long friends. It was only about four years ago I learned of Lonnie being his dad, Mark, you had one of the best in my book. Then there Paul, wherever Lonnie was, Paul was, he never stopped worrying or caring for Paul. He's going to be very missed. I want you boys to know if you need me for anything I work second shift at McDonald's in Manchester, and I live on Sacker at Lannie sizemore place, I'm just a call away please let me help if I can.
