“ My second grandchild. I was there when you come into this world watched as your mother took wave after wave of pain to get you here. I watched as she planned your take home out fit . I seen the joy as she brought you home And now I watch her have wave after wave of incredible pain as she picks out your clothes to send you home, from the place where you came. My heart aches for the loss of you and I'm rejoicing for where you have gone. Wesley you will always be forever loved. I will never forget get your infectious smile, your kind and gentle heart . I can hear you now " Hey Mamaw" with that smile of yours . I will miss you forever my little coffee drinking buddy.
